Last Minute Rush In Holiday Buying Seen for Saturday

Monday, Legal Holiday, to Find Most Business Places Closed

With but two more shopping days left before Christmas the last minute rush is under way.

The general impression has gone out this year that Antioch merchants have the best selection of merchandise they have ever had and at prices quite reasonable.

Those who have gone to other towns say that they did better in their Christmas buying at home this year. Antioch's improved stores and expert merchandising are getting results.

Monday is a legal holiday and the banks and many of the stores will be closed for that day. The postoffice will be open until 9 a. m.

Many organizations have paused in the pre-holiday rush to have Christmas parties.

The Regal China Co. employees will be entertained at a party Saturday evening at Our Country club. A buffet dinner will be served and there will be dancing. Decorations include a Christmas tree.

Three Are Injured in Crash on S. Main St. Wednesday Evening

Three persons were slightly injured last night at about 10 p. m. when a car driven by Rev. Roberts Ehrhott collided with one driven by Chas. Hookstra of Park Ave., at the intersection of Harden Street and South Main.

Rev. Ehrhott had just turned into Main street from Harden when the accident occurred. Hookstra was coming from the south.

Hookstra received a cut across the nose and two broken ribs. Mrs. Hookstra, the only other occupant of the car, suffered a cut above the eye and a possible hip injury. Rev. Ehrhott was badly shaken up and bruised. A complete diagnosis of his injuries has not yet been made. Advice from his family said that results of examination would be complete tomorrow. There is some possibility that injury of a serious nature to his neck has been sustained.

All persons involved in the accident were picked up by the Antioch Rescue squad and were given treatment at the office of a local doctor.

Antioch High Loses Pre-Holiday Games to Ela and Barrington

Two losses in pre-holiday basketball struggles were not the cheeriest presents to the Antioch Township High school but they were in no way surprises.

Barrington, the conference champions who are outdistancing everything in the league this year, won Friday night 54 to 31, and Ela of Lake Zurich administered the second defeat to the Sequoits on Saturday night there 47 to 41.

Without the services of Wilton Antioch made a poorer showing against Barrington than they would have otherwise, according to some observers, but the substitutes did a good job against the more experienced Broncho players. The score at the half was 31 to 18 and at the end of the third quarter 45 to 17.

After holding the Ela Bears to a tie at 24-all at the end of the half, the Sequoits suffered a slump in the third quarter which they could not overcome in the final quarter although they played better ball than their opponents toward the close of the game. Inability to make the free throws handicapped the Sequoits.

Prouty scored 19 points for Ela while Wilton, back in the lineup was high scorer for Antioch with 13 points.

Antioch should be able to beat Ela here on the return game. The next game will be with Northbrook here Friday, Jan. 6.

The Paposes also lost to Barrington and Ela Cubs 37 to 30. Antioch had Ela beat 21-16 at the end of the half, but succumbed in the last half.

Seniors To Give Dance Tonight Honoring Alumni

Art Smejkal's orchestra will provide music this evening for the dance given at the high school auditorium by the senior class. Given as a courtesy to all alumni, the public is invited.

The dance is the last social event of the school until after the holidays. An assembly of all ATHS students was held this afternoon just before the close of school for the vacation.

Polio Lung Cases Get New Hope as Result of Latest of Discoveries

Reports issuing from the nation's laboratories where polio research is being carried on indicate that relatively few patients would have to remain in an iron lung for life if proper treatment were employed early enough after onset of the disease, it was disclosed today by Mr. Ed Gresens Chairman of Antioch Township March of Dimes campaign.

Asserting "a resoundingly successful March of Dimes drive this January is necessary to assure uninterrupted continuation of polio studies" the local director pointed to several research advances illustrating how scientists are gradually bringing polio out of the category of a mystery disease.

"New therapeutic methods and devices have been developed for bulbar polio patients or those suffering respiratory paralysis," he declared, citing resumes assembled by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, among these, he said are:

"The use of the oscillating bed, positive pressure breathing apparatus, the Electrophonic nerve stimulator, tracheotomy, and feeding of oxygen—all recent advances which will mean saving many lives."

Mr. Gresens explained that scientists now realize that deaths from bulbar or respiratory polio result from massive destruction of nerve cells, strangulation, lack of oxygen, or a combination of all three.

The year 1949, he said, saw development of a new device which feeds respirator patients air and oxygen under pressure even when the iron lung is opened. This, he emphasized, assures sufficient life giving oxygen under conditions when the respirator must be opened to treat the patient.

The use of tracheotomy (surgical opening of the windpipe) he continued, has proved to be a lifesaver in many cases by assuring an open airway and preventing strangulation. He said the paralysis of the throat muscles which frequently occurs in bulbar patients prevents normal swallowing.

The March of Dimes director said the recent development of the electrophonic nerve stimulator has great potential value in treating patients who "fight" the iron lung, as well as those polio patients who develop high blood pressure. He explained that the nerve stimulator sends a rhythmic electric current to the phrenic nerve which controls the diaphragm muscle, thus causing that muscle to contract and relax at regular intervals as in breathing.

"The use of the stimulator prior to placing the patient in the conventional iron lung," he added, "enables the physician to control the patient who 'fights' the iron lung. Scientists have learned that the nerve stimulator also is helpful in controlling the high blood pressure developed by a few patients."

The oscillating bed, which rhythmically tilts the patient up and down, causes respiration by pushing and pulling the diaphragm, and can often replace the iron lung, he revealed. The use of such a device prevents from depending too much on a respirator, and makes nursing and physical therapy procedures much easier.

The March of Dimes director emphasized that these major accomplishments resulted from 69 research studies carried on in 1949 at a total cost of over $1,500,000 in March of Dimes funds.

McMillen Got Five Offices Instead of Just Presidency

James W. (Jim) McMillen ran for one office in the recent election and got five.

After he was sworn in as village president Tuesday evening he was informed he was also health commissioner, liquor commissioner, police chief, and fire commissioner. "As fire commissioner he is his own boss because he is also chief of the fire department."

Christmas on Sunday Brings Much Emphasis To Church Services

All Churches in Village to Have Special Programs
In Observance

Christmas falling on Sunday this year will have special meaning for the holiday in the churches of Antioch.

All of the churches are making special preparation for services which commemorate the birth of the Christ child and the story of his coming will again be told in scripture, ritual and song.

The Rev. Francis Flaherty of St. Peter's church announced that the Benedictine fathers would assist in hearing confessions this weekend. They will be heard starting Friday evening after Novena and continue Saturday afternoon and evening.

There will be midnight Mass Saturday for which the St. Peter's choir is preparing special music under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy McGreal. On Sunday there will be mass at 6, 8, 10, and 11 o'clock with High Mass being solemnized at the last hour.

Methodist Christmas Service

The robed choir under the direction of Mr. Charles Watson will sing two anthems at the Christmas service in the Methodist church in Antioch at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The first will be "The Carol of the Russian Children." The second anthem will be, "Christians Awake, Salute the Happy Morn."

Special music will include two solos. The first solo will be, "The Beautiful Star" sung by Mrs. Donald Brown. The second solo, sung by Mr. Fred Yates will be, "The Holy City."

The Rev. G. Richard Tuttle will bring the Christmas message. A nursery for small children will be maintained during the worship service in the basement of the church.

Both Grade School Teams Win from Gavin, Round Lk.

Antioch's grade school team won games from the Round Lake and Gavin teams recently.

The "A" team won from Round Lake's "A" team last Wednesday 32 to 18 at Grayslake, and the "B" team won from the Round Lake "B" team the same night at the same place, 42 to 12.

The following night the "A's" won from Gavin "A's" here in Antioch 35 to 16, and the "B" team won from the Gavin "B" team 32 to 9.

Nickell to Seek Office Of State Superintendent Of Public Schools Again

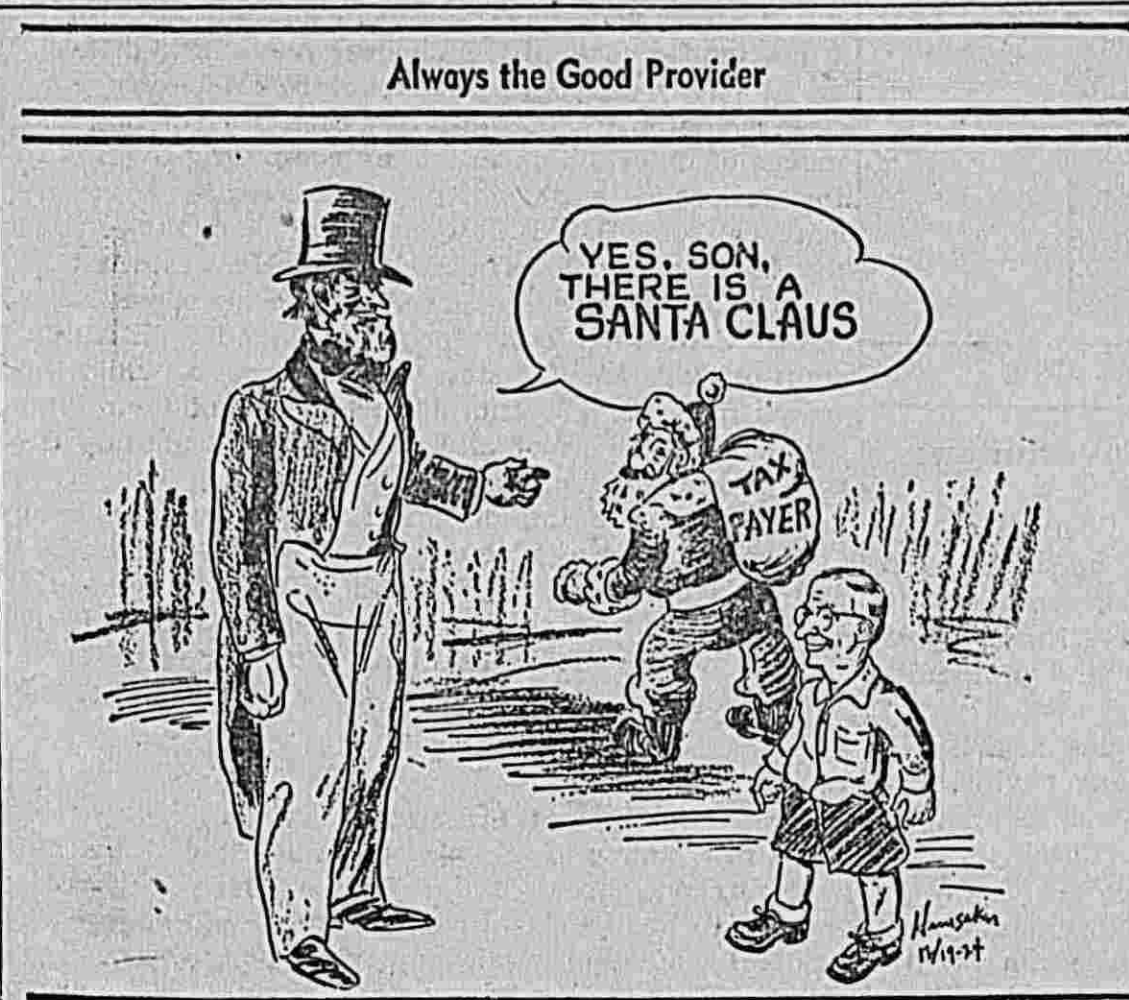

Champaign, Ill. (Special)—Announcing his candidacy for re-election in November 1950, subject to the April 11 primary, Vernon L. Nickell, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, tonight addressed a large home town audience of Republicans on educational problems confronting the State of Illinois.

During the seven years he has served as Superintendent of Public Instruction, Nickell said, "I have labored on the principle that schools exist for the benefit of the children, and that their first objective is to teach good American citizenship."

"The duty of the state to provide a good common school education for all the children is a constitutional mandate to the state legislature," he said. "The task of the Superintendent of Public Instruction is to provide leadership and services through the intelligent administration of those laws in the light of their interpretation."

If re-elected, Mr. Nickell said, he would continue to administer fairly and efficiently the school visitation, physical education, health and safety, vocational education, industrial arts, and other kindred programs. He also pledged to work in close cooperation with the state legislature and to continue his support of the common school fund, which is three times greater than when he assumed office in 1943. Under his guidance, he said, the war-time shortage of teachers, once as high as 4,000, has been lowered to approximately 1,500.

Mr. Nickell emphasized the fact that he administers laws governing school taxation, consolidations, etc., only after they are enacted by the state legislature. The tax levies are made by local boards.

All Schools Close for Holiday Vacation After Special Programs

The Antioch Grade school closed yesterday and the High school and St. Peter's grade school closed today for the holiday vacation. They will reopen on Tuesday, Jan. 3.

The Parent-Teacher association combined its meeting with the closing exercises of the public school. Each room provided a skit for the entertainment. Candy from Ted's and refreshments provided by the association added to children's enjoyment. There was a large attendance.

St. Peter's school children had their party throughout the day today. A motion picture "Bells of St. Mary's" was shown and Santa Claus made his appearance. The ladies of the Altar and Rosary society served refreshments with the Reeves Drug store providing ice cream and candy.

Most of the rural schools in the vicinity of Antioch and in other nearby villages had Christmas programs of some kind on the last day before the vacation.

Monument to be Built In Memory of Famous Bull at Ravenglen Farm

A monument will be erected at the Ravenglen farm at Hickory Corners in memory of King Bessie, a 13-year-old Holstein bull, that died last week.

The animal became world famous as the only six-time winner of All-American honors for his breed in history.

He had been at the Ravenglen farm the last 11 years of his life.

Valued at more than $50,000, he had won top honors in shows throughout the country and was considered the most perfect specimen of the breed ever known. More than $100,000 worth of his calves were sold by the Ravenglen farm, R. A. Arnold, manager said.

Born Oct. 10, 1936, on Elmwood farm, near Lake Forest, the bull was purchased as a 2-year-old by E. H. Ravenscroft, of Abbott Laboratories. He was purchased for $3,000.

The Senator won recognition early. He grabbed national honors each year in shows throughout the country and for six straight years was voted the All-American Holstein by judges of the nation's top shows. The judges meet after each season to select a national grand and reserve champion.

He is the only bull ever to win the All-American rating for every possible age group from birth until maturity.

Survivors of the Senator include about 70 daughters and more than 100 bulls. They are residents of farms throughout the country and the world. Fifty of the blue-blood daughters are rated as advance register cows.

Trevor Organizing New Volunteer Fire Dept.

Organization of a volunteer fire department at Trevor, Wis., is under way.

A charter has been obtained and Charles Ade is heading the group in its organization procedure.

A dance last Saturday evening netted around $200 in a fund the department is raising to buy equipment. The department has its meeting in the Trevor social hall.

Fred A. Peterson, 64 On Village Police Staff For Many Years, Dies

Funeral Service Was Held Tuesday, Burial at Hillsdale

Fred A. Peterson, 64, village marshal for many years, died at his home on Corona ave., at 7:08 p. m. Saturday following a lingering illness.

He had been in failing health for about a year and it was necessary last spring to lighten his police duties. He always had hope that he would be able to regain his health and his usefulness to the community, and it was with that hope that he asked a leave of absence on Nov. 1 until next spring.

He was a familiar figure on Main street and he will be missed.

Mr. Peterson was born Dec. 26, 1884 at Zanda, Wis., but was raised and received his schooling in Hebron. He came to Antioch in 1925 and about five years later began his work for the village which was continuous. He was a member of the Illinois Police association.

As a former member of Hebron Lodge No. 42, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Mr. Peterson transferred his membership to Lakeside lodge of Antioch and here served several years as Noble Grand. He was also a member of the Rebekah lodge here.

Surviving are the wife, Hilda, three daughters, Mrs. Vernie Ender, Mt. Pulaski, Mrs. Florence Misk, Antioch; Mrs. Jeanette Fennema, Burlington, Wis., and six grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. Christine Forep, Villa Park, and two brothers Carl and Herman of Hebron also survive.

The funeral service was held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Strang funeral home with the Rev. G. Richard Tuttle in charge. Burial was at Hillsdale cemetery.

Serving as pall bearers were members of the police department, Walter I. Scott, William Thieman, and S. E. Burnette, and the volunteer firemen, Murrill Cunningham, Edgar Simonsen and James McMillen.

Many business houses closed during the time of the service.

Honor Earle Somervilles At Tea for All 15-Year Employees of State D. W.

T. Earle Somerville and wife, Mrs. Georgia Somerville, were guests of honor last Thursday at a tea spotlighting all employees of the Department of Welfare with 15 years or more of state service.

The tea was given at the Chicago State hospital by Dr. Edward F. Dombrowski, superintendent.

Mrs. Somerville works at the Female Diagnostic Service clinic as a medical stenographer, and Mr. Somerville is in the engineering department.

They began their services for the state in 1933 at the Elgin State hospital. In 1934 they were transferred to the Chicago State hospital and in December 1936 to the Kankakee State hospital. On Sept. 1, 1946 they were returned to the Chicago State hospital which was renamed so from the Dunning State hospital by Gov. Henry Horner.

The Somervilles still make Antioch their home.

Suffers Heart Attack
Fidele Lombert, of Zion, husband of the former Mrs. Alma Harden, of Antioch, suffered a heart attack Sunday night and is in Victory Memorial hospital, Waukegan.

McMillen Takes Oath As Village President; Bonus Given Policemen

Thunderstorm Limits Attendance at Meeting to Board Only

James W. McMillen was sworn into office as village president in a recessed meeting of the village board Tuesday evening.

While a thunder and rain storm provided a noisy background McMillen quietly took the oath of office as administered by Clerk L. D. Powles.

Members of the board and press were the only witnesses.

Murrill Cunningham, acting president then gave his seat to the new mayor and took his place at the former position as trustee.

Arthur Rosenfeldt, senior member of the board, spoke in behalf of the trustees in welcoming McMillen to their leadership and pledged their cooperation. "The recent election shows that you are clearly the choice of the people," said Rosenfeldt. "I'm sure all members of the board will co-operate and pull together for the welfare of the community."

President McMillen thanked the trustees for coming out on such a stormy night and said he hoped his administration would not be like the weather.

Bonds of McMillen and Clerk Powles were set at $3,000. This, Attorney Jacobs said, had been neglected in the past.

The first act of the board was to grant a $100 Christmas bonus to all four members of the police force.

E. C. Jacobs, village attorney, said that he is seeking an opinion from the bond company that handled the village's sewage disposal plant bonds as to whether the rate to the Willowdale Dairy Co., as agreed upon by the trustees, would be approved. The trustees are waiting 90 days before shutting off the plant's service if its bill is not settled.

Antioch Postoffice Has Big Rush Of Business; Space now Too Small

The Antioch postoffice has had its biggest rush of Christmas mailing this year.

Forty-seven thousand cancellations were tabulated over Monday and Tuesday this week, according to Postmaster Roy Kufalk.

By today most of the rush was over and Christmas mailing tomorrow and Saturday will be mainly for local reception or not intended for Christmas delivery.

Space in the Ford garage building again was used this year to take care of the large amount of mail. Parcel post handling was not tabulated but the amount this year probably was not as great as last year.

The great need for more space in handling mail, especially during the Christmas rush is evident, Kufalk said. The work of handling mail is slowed up considerably because of crowded conditions and public is fully aware of the smallness of the lobby.

In answer to an inquiry Kufalk said that the lease on the present location has four years yet to run.

In North Chicago when conditions became crowded an annex was set up. Now the city is to get a new building to eliminate the great rental cost and to reduce the number of employees.

The postoffice will be closed at 9 a. m. Monday because of the legal holiday. This arrangement will also be applicable to Monday, Jan. 2.

Masons Give Xmas Party for Children

Sequoit Lodge A. F. & A. M. played host to children of members at a Christmas party held at the Masonic Temple last night. The party is an annual affair of the organization and was attended by more than seventy-five persons.

A program, in which many of the children participated, featured the appearance of old Santa Claus himself, and this part of the program was especially enjoyed by the grownups, who were able to hear the little ones recite their wishes for Christmas through the address system.

Moving pictures were shown through the courtesy of Geo. Borovicka of Reeves Drug store, and each child was given a sack of treats. Refreshments were served also.

What is a "Temporary" Government Expenditure?

Every department head cries to high heaven when it is suggested that his appropriation be even moderately reduced. Civic organizations and local business men are equally bad offenders in many cases when it is proposed that a cut be made in some activity that would benefit them at the expense of the rest of us. Only a change in this sorry attitude can bring about economical, efficient government.

A particularly convincing example has been

Cedar Lake Camp R. N. A. met Tuesday, Dec. 13, with Mrs. Paul Avery, Sr., at her home, had wonderful pot luck dinner at 1 p. m. and held meeting at 2 p. m. with election of officers as follows: Cecile Blumenschein, Elizabeth Anzinger, Mary Davis, Ethel Wood, Helen Fish, Cora Hamlin, Marie Hamlin and Vivian Adamson were all elected to succeed themselves as Oracle, Vice Oracle, past oracle, chancellor, recorder, receiver, marshal and inner sentinel. Lily Friedman was elected outer sentinel and Mary Herban elected as manager for

What is the significance of this to labor? The answer can be stated simply. If we are to have government-owned business, which socialism, and if we are to have ever-increasing governmental control over our economic life, we will see a steady loss of freedom on the part of labor. Once government become a mass-employer, the working man will take whatever the politicians want to give him. He will totally lack any effective means of bettering his lot. And that, in the long run, is what creates slave labor on the communist pattern.

To put the case another way, we will have free labor and free unions only so long as we have free enterprise and privately-owned business. The two are inseparable—they are based on exactly the same concept. Every dictator, as soon as he communizes industry, destroys the labor unions and shackles the workers. Every man becomes a serf.

The Lake Villa Community Men's club held a regular meeting Tuesday evening, Dec. 13, at the school gym and enjoyed the turkey dinner prepared and served by ladies of W. S. C. S. and Halcyon club. W. C. Petty, Supt. of schools, addressed the group and told of many interesting things taking place in education of our children. Election of officers was held, and Jere Hagen succeeded Wm. Walker as pres.; Ben Cribb was elected 1st vice pres. and John Henning, 2nd vice pres. Chas. Von Oeyen and Kenneth Hart succeeded themselves as sec and treas. Walter Sorenson is sergeant at arms and the new directors are Ed Langbein, John Deder, Elmer S. Oelkers, T. R. Messler, George Mosby, Don Cremin, Rev. Harrison, Al Boehm, Wm. Marks and W. Von Stoser. Wm. Walker and Lester Hamlin are on the Board of Directors as holdovers. The men will sponsor the annual Christmas party for the children of the township at the school gym on Friday evening, Dec. 23, when Santa Claus will be there with gifts for all the children, after the program given by the children.

Well, Al didn't get discouraged. He called on Mr. Higgins a month later and talked things over again. This time he took Mr. Higgins to lunch and bought tickets for the theater afterward. Higgins began to weaken. Al talked himself blue in the face, and finally went away with a promise that Mr. Higgins would think the matter over.

Al was mighty satisfied with himself. A month before election a story came out in the papers that, through the efforts of Albert T. Slater, the new state highway would run through Dexter.

"Dumb, am I?" Al said to his wife after it was over. "Well, this is one Tyler pulled his fast one too early in the game. He thought the psychological moment was two weeks ago, instead of yesterday. I wonder," he went on, "what Tyler would say if he knew I started the rumor about abandoning the road idea. I wonder if the folks would say I was dumb if they knew I just did it so I could make it appear like I persuaded the state to change its mind on the day before election." "Dumb, am I? Dumb—like a fox."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon, the following are from the Bible: "Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children; . . . For ye were sometimes darkness, but now as children of light; . . . And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather prove them . . . But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, and holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvelous light" (Eph. 5:1, 8, 11; 1 Pet. 2:9).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The prophet of today beholds in the mental horizon the signs of these times, the reappearance of the Christianity which heals the sick and destroys error, and no other sign shall be given . . . Creeds, doctrines, and human hypotheses not express Christian Science; much less can they demonstrate it . . . When the Science of being is universally understood, every man will be his own physician, and Truth will be the universal panacea" (pp. 98, 144).

A gymnasium which will include a stage and movable partitions for classrooms, and a new kitchen and heating plant in the old building.

The Antioch Methodist church is very fortunate in having Rev. Stevenson. He has a crowded schedule and is very much in demand. There are several churches in the Chicago vicinity who have requested his help, but have not succeeded in obtaining his talented services because of the heavy schedule. He will waste no time when he arrives on Saturday, Jan. 7, of next year. There will be a meeting with the church building and finance committees on the first evening. The following day, the visiting pastor, will preach in the regular morning worship service.

Christmas Seal Sale

Reaches $25,485 With 26,000 Replies Lacking

County residents have responded generously to the 1949 Christmas Seal Sale, but there are still some 26,000 Seal Sale Letters to be acknowledged according to Mrs. G. Fossland, County Seal Sale Chairman, who reported today the receipts to date total $25,485.24.

"With only a few days remaining until the official close of the campaign we are hoping that those who haven't done so will send their returns immediately," said Mrs. Fossland. "I wish to point out that the money raised by the sale of Christmas Seals is the sole support of the Lake County Tuberculosis Association and will make possible its program in 1950.

During the coming year, the Tuberculosis Association hopes to have a community chest x-ray survey in every town in Lake County as well as to carry on its case finding program in industries and schools throughout the county.

The 1949 Christmas Seal Sale opened on November 21 and officially closes on Christmas Day. Lake County's Seal Sale is part of the 43rd annual nationwide appeal of the voluntary tuberculosis associations to fight tuberculosis.

Let's "Keep Christmas Merry" by Avoiding Fire in Decorations

In what may have been his last official act as Antioch fire chief, James McMillen this week urged extreme care in fire prevention during the holiday period when Christmas trees and other decorations are used.

He quoted the National Board of Fire Underwriters, who give the following tips in safe use of Christmas trees and other lighted decorative materials:

"Each year fire turns Christmas, the most joyful time of the year, into tragedy in hundreds of American homes.

"Christmas fires occur because extra hazards—highly flammable Christmas trees and decorations—are brought into homes, schools, and public buildings. Other hazards include use of lighted candles, defective electric lights, and flammable costumes used in Christmas pageants.

"A little knowledge of these hazards, and how to prevent tragic fires, will help keep Christmas the merry holiday it should be in American homes.

"Few people realize that the ordinary Christmas tree is one of the most flammable objects known.

It is filled with pitch and resin. Once ignited, a Christmas tree is very difficult to extinguish. Tests at Underwriters' Laboratories show that an average size tree takes less than two minutes to burn up; such a tree can easily start a roaring blaze in your house before the arrival of the fire department.

Many methods of "flame-proofing" Christmas trees have been tested, but few have proved successful.

However, the National Board of Fire Underwriters' engineers have devised the following simple rules, which if followed will make your Christmas tree safe.

1. Choose a small tree, instead of a big one. Remember, a small tree can be as beautiful as a large one, as well as being much less hazardous.

2. Do not set up the tree until a few days before Christmas. Keep the tree outdoors until ready to install it.

3. Place the tree in the coolest part of the house. If necessary shut off the radiator closest to the tree.

4. Do not, under any circumstances, use cotton or paper for decoration on the tree or around the tree.

5. Do not place electric trains around the tree.

6. Use only electric lights (Never use candles) and see that all of the wires are in good condition and not frayed. Those which have been inspected for safety by Underwriters' Laboratories have a paper band around the wire or a statement on the box.

7. Provide a switch some distance from the tree for turning the electric lights off and on. Do not plug or unplug the lights beneath the tree.

8. Do not leave tree lights burning when no one is in the house. From time to time inspect the tree and see whether any of the needles near the lights have started to turn brown. If so, change the location of the lights.

9. When the needles start falling, take the tree down and discard it. If it is desired to keep the tree up for a few days longer, do not keep the tree lighted more than half an hour at a time.

After you have opened your Christmas presents, remove all the gift wrappings and packing materials from your living room and dispose of them.

Safety in Public Places
In hotels, churches, hospitals and other places of assembly, and in hall-ways of offices, the location of the Christmas tree is of vital importance.

The tree should not be located near any stairway or elevator which would provide an upper draft.

It should not be placed near entrance doors or otherwise block exits.

It is very essential that all doors leading to other parts of the building, particularly upper stairs, if located close to a Christmas tree, be kept closed (to retard the upward spread of fire).

A definite inspection should be made each morning by someone in authority to determine whether the tree should be left up for a longer time, and whether it should be lighted again.

Christmas trees in offices should not be located in such a position as to block exit from the office.

Adherence to the simple rules above will go a long way toward "keeping Our Christmas Merry" by avoiding serious fires.

Newport Firemen Sued

As the result of a collision in which the Newport Township fire truck and a passenger car were smashed causing the death of one fireman and injury to four others, Mrs. Molly Rasmussen, driver of the passenger car has sued the fire department for injuries she received asking $57,500. The accident occurred at Kilbourn rd., and Rte. 173 on Sept. 3.

Merry Christmas
The Origin of the Yule Customs

Hospitable Hearth
—Welcoming family and old friends, is the spirit of a tradition almost 2000 years old.

Tree
—More than 400 years ago, Martin Luther saw a stately pine tree stretching skyward where the very stars seemed to hang from its branches. This was Luther's gift to his family and to all mankind.

Holly Wreath
—The holly wreath on the door served as a talisman to ward off the witches.

Mistletoe
—The Druids of Britain found a plant atop a gloom oak seeming to draw its life from the air, they deemed it heaven-sent and called it mistletoe. It became a symbol of love and purity.

Candles
—Originated in Ireland and were always lit by the girl in the family whose name was Mary to guide the weary travelers, as were Mary and Joseph at Bethlehem. Now the Christmas candle is a beacon of good will.

Caroling
—In 1223 in an Italian hamlet, St. Francis of Assisi brought to the villagers all the wonders of the Nativity. When they saw this reproduction of the Manger, they burst into song and the first carol was born.

St. Nicholas
—Or Santa Nikolas whose name later evolved into Santa Claus, came to America in 1623 on the first ship bringing Dutch settlers. At that time he was very dignified with clerical robes and rode on a donkey instead of a reindeer drawn sled. It was Washington Irving who was responsible for the transformation to the jolly Santa that we all know, and it was Thomas Nast, the cartoonist, creator of the Tammany Tiger, who gave us the picturesque likeness with the red stocking cap and coat trimmed with white fur and the jovial nature to match it.

Feast
—Mince pie was once called Christmas pie for the spices used in its preparation, symbolizing the gifts of the Three Wise Men. Christmas has traditionally been a time of feasting.

The Stocking
—To America the Dutch brought their wooden clogs (shoes) and a lively affection for St. Nicolas. On Christmas Eve, a local citizen acting as St. Nick tiptoed through hushed homes leaving gifts in the tiny clogs set by the fire to dry. This custom later changed to stockings.

Punchbowl
—To early Anglo Saxons, was said to be a toast, "your health." Around the huge bowl brimming with ale and roasted apples these stalwarts would "wassail" and drink hall to all.

Xmas
—The "X" in Xmas is the Greek letter "chi"—written X and "chi" is the initial letter of the Greek word for Christ.

Sn.—We Say
—This is the time of year when every body looks upon every body else as pretty swell people and we yield to a feeling that after all we're only children of time and that to love and be loved is the only thing that matters, so, I am saying for all of us, tellers and gals around these diggins—A MERRY NEW YEAR MAS and a HAPPY NEW YEAR to all of you. May we all continue to be genuine friends each and every day of every year to come.

SHORT STORY

On Proposing

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

Vida knew all the tricks. You see, she read a lot. Books on every conceivable subject. Even magazine articles and fiction.

Unfortunately Vida's facial beauty was next to nil. When, at the age of 18, she came to a full realization of this, and an understanding of its possible consequences, she was at first unhappy.

But being a sensible person, sensible enough to look at the thing squarely, she sought for other means to achieve her end. The end was a man: love, romance.

The other means presented themselves in the form of books, learning how to put yourself across when you weren't particularly attractive; resorting to devices and technique that good looking girls didn't have to employ.

The results were exceedingly gratifying. Even now, at the age of 22, the man of her dreams was practically within her grasp. Give her another month, two at the most, and he would speak the words that would make her happiness and triumph complete.

The man's name was Glen Lamphier. He was one of those fine, good looking, upstanding specimens of young manhood. Intelligent, gracious, and with a promising career ahead of him. The type who appealed by exerting only a minimum of effort. Vida had aimed high when selecting him as the object of her acquired charms, but the thought of failure had never once entered her head.

She had aroused his interest by heeding the dictates of her fiction heroines. And Glen had seen the light. He had come to realize that behind the plain features of this girl were quality, intelligence, breeding.

In a word, Vida had been successful in her enterprise—up to a point. Unhappily, it appeared now as if that point might prove a stumbling block, an unsurmountable obstacle.

Coming into the living room one evening she found him waiting for her, comfortably ensconced before the fireplace, a volume of Oscar Wilde open in his lap. The fact that her entrance did not distract his attention, piqued her no end. She hesitated a moment before making known her presence, and in that moment the feeling of being piqued gave way to torment. Suddenly she realized that something had happened, that she was losing her hold, that Glen's interest was on the wane. Always before, he had awaited her coming with eager anticipation glowing in his eyes.

The thought made Vida unhappy.

A WEEK LATER, sitting before the living room fire, Vida abandoned seeking an answer to her problem and, for lack of something better to do, picked up the copy of Oscar Wilde and opened it. Her eye chanced to fall on a paragraph, which had been lightly checked with a pencil. She read through it with a rapidly increasing pulse. "I really don't see anything romantic in proposing. It is very romantic to be in love. But there is nothing romantic about a definite proposal. . . . the excitement is all over. The very essence of romance is uncertainty."

He was one of those fine upstanding specimens of young manhood.

Vida stood up, and there was a wild look in her eyes. Glen had read that paragraph. He had checked it with his pencil. He had remembered that her faith in books, in the printed word was profound. . . .

She made her way to the book case behind the fireplace. Her eyes scanned the volumes contained therein. She removed a copy of O'Brien's short stories, leafed it through, found the passage she sought, and underscored it heavily.

Glen called an hour later. If he was annoyed at the long interval in the living room before Vida's appearance, he did not betray that fact. Instead, he seemed deeply interested in reading a paragraph from a volume of O'Brien's short stories, which he found lying upon the table. He read it through twice before Vida's voice disturbed him.

He was glad she had come. He welcomed her eagerly. He had something to say, something that could not wait. He said it incoherently, babbling, but plain enough for Vida to understand and nod her head in acquiescence. . . .

Lk. Villa Merchants Edge Grayslake Legionnaires

The Lake Villa Merchant's basketball team sponsored by the businessmen of Lake Villa avenged an earlier loss at the hands of the Grayslake legion team by whipping them on their home court by a score of 39 to 26. The game was closely contested but the Grayslake boys just couldn't crack the tight defense set up by the Merchants as they had done previously with their fine screening plays. The Lake Villa offense was led by Bill Thompson who hit the hoops for 20 points. Klindera was high for Grayslake with 5.

In the preliminary game the Grayslake "B" squad chalked up a victory by winning 32 to 27. Geiste scored 7 points for the winners, while Koehler got 6 for the losers.

Illinois Leads Other States in Correcting Vision of Children

Children have not gone out of style in Illinois. It is one of the few states in the United States which is insistent that all youngsters in public schools be given scientific vision tests.

This program started in Peoria under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Gray, executive secretary of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness and Milton R. Litterst, director of the Department of Child Welfare of the Peoria public schools.

"The Peoria survey, which tested twenty-two thousand children, found thousands of children whose learning difficulties were simply that they couldn't see well enough to keep up with their classmates. In fact nearly one out of every five pupils in the Peoria public grade schools was found to have vision below a minimum standard," says an article in the January Woman's Home Companion.

The failure to adopt reasonable vision-testing practices, as used by the Illinois school, says the magazine, in other schools in the United States is part of the larger failure to provide decent visual environment. School superintendents and school boards are a generation behind the present level of scientific knowledge about school construction, school lighting, classroom painting and desk arrangement.

The victim was using a flashlight in routing cars around the wrecked car of Thomas Irvin, Jr., of Round Lake, when Tykowski appeared over a hill and couldn't stop. He was charged with reckless driving.

FINICKY TASTES

Food Choice Labels Mind

WASHINGTON. — The average person may not realize it, but according to the psychiatrists, his or her tastes in food is a good indication of whether the person is neurotic or an illiterate.

For instance, the mental doctors say, any man who doesn't like fried eggs may be either a neurotic or an illiterate. In fact, if one is unusually finicky about food, that may be a clue to his mental status.

Tests have shown that while practically every normal man likes fried eggs, one out of five neurotic men don't like their eggs fried. And among illiterates, one out of 10 say no to fried eggs.

Take the humble cabbage and the much-despised-by-children spinach. Only three per cent of normal males said they didn't like cabbage or spinach. But almost a third of the neurotics and illiterates tested hated both.

Normals Not Finicky

Prof. Richard Walden of Western Reserve university ran the food tests on neurotics. Using 20 foods, he found that 62 per cent of the neurotics said they disliked three or more items. And among the normal, only 11 per cent were so particular.

Professor Walden decided that the dislikes begin in early life, as the result of "emotional experiences at meals, faulty and capricious training methods, and fear of the new and strange."

With Professor Walden's charts for a starting base, William D. Altus of Santa Barbara college tried somewhat similar tests on army illiterates. Results of these tests were made public in an article written for the Journal of Consulting Psychology.

Literacy Counts

Altus said he had to discard 12 of the 20 foods Walden used in his tests. For instance, he figured that anyone who couldn't read wouldn't be likely to know much about mushrooms or Swiss cheese. "Too precious," said Altus.

Altus didn't draw any conclusions, but he suspects one reason for the illiterates' poor food showing: They tend to be neurotic, too.

Well, what about the poor hostesses anxious to please? What shall she serve?

Investigators who have studied the charts can give a glowing report on one food. It's disliked by only 4 per cent of the normal, only 14 per cent of the illiterates and only 18 per cent of the neurotics.

So serve radishes, madame. In any company, they appear to be relatively safe.

Monument to Memorialize Flag-Raising on Suribachi

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The largest sculptured figure ever to be executed in bronze is destined for dedication on November 10, 1950. It depicts the immortal act of the six marines raising the Stars and Stripes on Mt. Suribachi, Iwo Jima.

The finished monument will rise to an elevation of about 100 feet and will be an eternal shrine in the nation's capitol to mark the heroism of U.S. marines in all wars.

The bronze is the work of sculptor Felix de Weldon and architect Paul Franz Jaquet, who have been laboring on the massive project for the past four years.

Funds for the shrine were raised by the U.S. marine corps memorial foundation and members of the marine corps league.

Purple Heart Marines To Get Tarawa History

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The history of the battle of Tarawa, one of the series of histories covering all marine operations in World War II, will be given free of charge to all veterans of that campaign who were wounded and hold the Purple Heart medal.

Veterans of the Tarawa campaign, when making their request for the volume, should include in their request the unit to which, they were attached when wounded, and the date they were wounded, and the date the Purple Heart was awarded.

All requests should be forwarded to the historical division, headquarters, U.S. marine corps, Washington 25, D.C.

Officials Are Unconcerned As Train Robbery Reported

MAPLEWOOD, WIS.—Door county officials weren't much concerned about the "great train robbery" between here and Sawyer.

A special on the Ahnapee and Western railroad was stopped by two masked and pistol-firing bandits. The outlaws walked through the coaches, demanding money from all the passengers. They got it, too.

The huge fez on the steam dome of the special's engine was the tip-off to official unconcern. The train carried 103 members of the Green Bay Shrine club. The bandit's loot was turned over to the Shrine's crippled children's fund.

Check Your Social Security at 65

All workers age 65 and over who have been employed on Social Security jobs should contact our office immediately so as to prevent possible loss of old-age insurance benefits, according to Bernard Barnett, manager of the Waukegan Office of the Federal Social Security Administration.

"So many times," Mr. Barnett said, "we have had to tell workers who have delayed contacting our office, that if they had come in to see us sooner, they would not have lost several months of benefits. Those workers should know how they stand, not only as a protection to themselves but their families as well."

"Workers have everything to gain and nothing to lose by checking with us. They may be ahead in dollars instead of missing in dollars that are rightfully theirs. They can find out if they are fully insured, and they can find out the amount of their monthly benefit. They can learn how seasonal workers receive benefits when they are laid off, how other workers draw benefits for the months they are idle between change in jobs and how still other workers work full time on jobs not covered by Social Security and draw monthly benefits at the same time."

If it is not convenient for workers to call at the Waukegan office personally, they may write the Social Security Administration, Room 4, Post Office Building, Waukegan, Ill., for particulars or to arrange for a personal interview by a field representative who may visit your town in the near future.

Colds and Pneumonia

One of the most dangerous diseases in the world today is pneumonia—a fellow traveler of the common cold. When a cold gives rise to chills or rust-colored sputum, call a doctor at once so he can check for pneumonia. Protection against pneumonia. Avoid people with colds, stay out of drafts, dress for bad weather in warm clothes and rubbers or overshoes, and get enough rest and good food.

SHORT STORY

Call
A Doctor

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

OGDEN TURNED over in bed, muttered, then sat bolt upright. There was a wild, unholy light in his eyes. Great globules of perspiration stood out on his forehead. His hands felt cold and clammy.

For a moment he sat rigid and tense. Slowly he relaxed. Then he switched on the bedside light. Five a.m. In four and a half hours it would be over. He would have entered Mr. Mitchell's office and said, in effect:

3-Minute Fiction
"Mr. Mitchell, I have worked for you for three years. I am a valued employee and feel that I deserve more money." And Mr. Mitchell would reply—Well, what would Mr. Mitchell reply?

He got out of bed without waking his wife. It was 5:30 and still dark. He went into the bathroom and turned on the shower. At 6 o'clock, fully dressed, he came downstairs. He put coffee on to boil, set a frying pan over a gas jet, cut open an orange, plugged in the toaster.

Presently he sat down to eat. He ate automatically. Food was tasteless in his mouth.

He left the house without waking Helen. During the half hour it took him to reach the office he was beset by all sorts of terrifying fancies. He grew hot, then cold. He changed his mind twice about approaching Mr. Mitchell. He thought he'd postpone the ordeal. Then he pictured himself coming home to Helen. Helen was proud of him. What would she think if he had to admit lacking the courage to face a common ordinary man like Mr. Mitchell?

Now, there was something. Mr. Mitchell was, after all, nothing more than a common ordinary man. Like himself. Built the same way. Capable of having toothaches and stomachaches and liking his eggs fried only on one side. Just a man.

Ogden tried to picture himself in Mr. Mitchell's position. What would he do if an employee of three years asked for a raise? What? Why, he'd look at the matter coldly, impersonally. He'd add things up and decide whether or not the employee was worth more to him in dollars and cents. He'd try to figure out in his own mind how little he could get away with paying.

Ah! There was something now. If you asked for a raise, act as though you deserved it. Give the impression that the possibility you weren't worth more never entered your head. It was merely a matter of arriving at a figure.

People spoke to Ogden when he entered the office. Then they looked at him curiously. He didn't like same. He was ill. Or perhaps he had a hangover. He seemed pale. His hands trembled when he hung up his hat. He was sweating. Perhaps he should call a doctor.

"Good Lord, call a doctor!"

At 9:05 Mr. Mitchell came in, nodding and speaking to everyone as he always did. Ogden opened his mouth to reply, but no sound came.

He wet his lips, started to rise, sat down again weakly. Mr. Mitchell's door opened. Mr. Mitchell came out. "Ogden!" he yelled, and his voice had a rasping sound.

Ogden jumped. What had he done now? Certainly Mr. Mitchell acted as though he was going to ball him out. Perhaps fire him. Good. Firing would be a relief. It would settle the whole problem. He could tell Helen that he had asked for a raise and Mitchell had fired him and it was her fault.

Mr. Mitchell was behind his desk when Ogden entered.

"Ogden, I've been thinking about you. You've proved yourself valuable to the firm. That western deal now. You did a good job. You have the sort of stuff we need in this organization. I'm the sort of man who believes in paying a man what he's worth. Now, I need a junior partner. If you're interested I'd like to groom you for the post. You'd start at double your present salary. Then in a year—Hey! Miss Ryan! Quick, a glass of water. Ogden's fainted! Good Lord, call a doctor!"

HEALTH HINTS
for LIVESTOCKPREPARED BY AMERICAN FOUNDATION FOR ANIMAL HEALTHPROTECTING SWINE
FROM BRUCELLOSIS

Hard as they have tried, scientists have not yet found an effective remedy for brucellosis in swine.

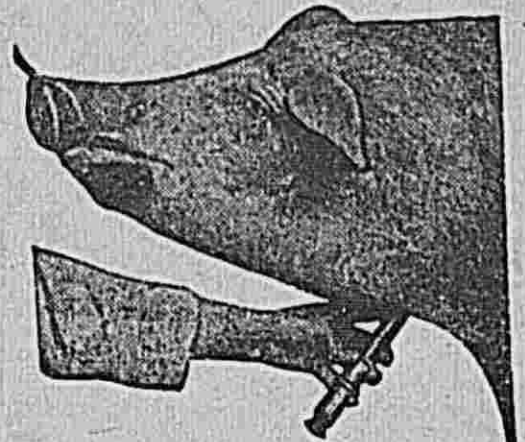

But they have worked out a set of preventive measures that every farmer can employ in co-operation with his veterinarian. If these precautions are taken, it will greatly reduce the enormous losses now being caused by this killer of newborn and unborn pigs.

Though they carry the infection, adult swine may not become acutely ill with brucellosis. But boars transmit the disease to sows. And infected sows are poor breeders. They may lose their litters early in the gestation period, or produce stillborn and sickly, short-lived pigs. That is how brucellosis takes its worst toll.

First step to keep out brucellosis is to avoid bringing infected animals onto the premises. Newly-purchased swine, or boars brought in for breeding purposes, should first be blood tested.

Breeding herds should be tested regularly. New stock should be kept in quarantine for two months after reaching the farm. Any sow that loses her pigs prematurely should be kept away from the herd until proved free of infection. When infection is found in grade herds, it may be advisable to market all breeding animals. Hog houses should be cleaned and disinfected after reactors are removed.

Drawing blood sample for brucellosis test.

Brucellosis is a threat to human health, too. The germ causes a lingering, painful human disease called undulant fever. Men who assist sows at farrowing time are advised to wear rubber gloves and wash thoroughly, as precautions against infection.

WATCH FOR CATTLE
WITH ITCHY SKINS

Healthy cattle, free from mites and lice, don't waste their energy in scratching or rubbing. Farmers should take warning when cows begin to show signs of itching skin.

Many skin diseases are infectious or contagious and may spread from one animal through an entire herd. Milk production falls off, beef gains slow up, feed is wasted, hides may be damaged. Human handlers may become infected, too. So, for many reasons, it is a good idea to be alert against any of the following common skin troubles:

Scabies, mange or "barn itch"—caused by tiny spider-like mites that spread rapidly. Symptoms include bare or wrinkled spots, usually on the neck or flanks.

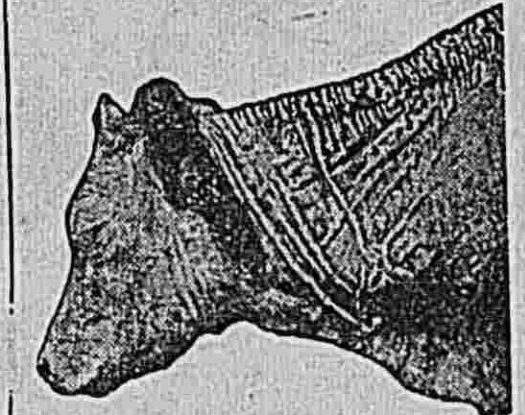

Ringworm—caused by a fungus and appearing as crusty half-dollar size spots, usually on the head or neck.

Seed warts—caused by a virus; commonly seen on the head and neck. A single wart may be followed by clusters and clumps of unsightly dry growths.

"X" disease—a new disorder, of yet undetermined cause; characterized by hardening and drying of skin and loss of hair over the neck and shoulders, as well as warty growths in the mouth.

Sunburn—causing white-skinned animals and caused by over-exposure to sunlight while feeding on certain sensitizing plants.

A bad case of mange.

Other diseases, too, affect the skin and hair-coats of cattle. Early diagnosis by a veterinarian is important because the symptoms of various diseases are similar, and proper treatment depends on the true cause. Moreover, some skin ailments of cattle are reportable and subject to quarantine.

In diagnosing a suspected case, the veterinarian has to consider the entire pattern of symptoms. Otherwise, the disease may be confused with ringworm, virus scouring, or other ailments.

Hardening of skin, one symptom of "X" disease.

A recent survey of several outbreaks indicated that newly-purchased cattle have served as carriers or, in some other way, brought "X" disease into home herds. So authorities are warning farmers to be especially careful in purchasing feeder stock or breeding animals. A veterinary check-up of the newcomers seems to be a wise precaution.

Sanitation may be neglected. In late summer or early autumn, pastured cattle may pick up the parasites in water from stagnant ponds or bays.

Symptoms of coccidiosis in a calf include straining, reddish scouring, rapid loss of weight, low blood viume and extreme weakness. Prompt treatment, including perhaps a blood transfusion, may be needed to save the animal's life.

Oocysts of elmeria anburnensis, one cause of Coccidiosis.

The best means of control, of course, is prevention. Careful sanitation, clean quarters, segregation of calves by age groups, keeping calves from eating off the ground, and other husbandry measures suggested by the veterinarian can largely ward off calf losses due to coccidiosis.

Ken out in several new areas, and the losses in each outbreak have been very severe.

Listeriosis is sometimes known among sheep raisers as "circling" disease, because the germ damages the brain and causes the sheep to walk in circles, or to stagger, push their heads into fences, or fall to their knees. It may also cause inflammation of the eye, and it sometimes causes ewes to lose their lambs. Sick animals frequently become completely paralyzed before death.

Thus far, no effective vaccine has been developed for controlling outbreaks of listeriosis. If an outbreak of the disease is suspected, the first control step is to obtain an immediate diagnosis by a veterinarian. This is essential because listeriosis resembles several other sheep infections, and laboratory diagnosis may be needed to determine the exact germ responsible for the illness. Sick animals should be isolated from the rest of the flock, and every possible sanitary measure should be taken, to help save the rest of the animals from exposure.

Coach Frank Bucci's Wilnot high school Panthers claimed undisputed leadership of the Southeastern conference Friday evening following their victory over the rugged Rochester Aggies, 42 to 30.

The Wilnot "B" team bowed to the Aggies 29 to 20.

Prior to Friday night's game these two teams had been deadlocked for conference honors with four victories each against no losses. For awhile it appeared as though Rochester would gain the decision when Wilnot started slowly scoring their first goal only after seven minutes in the first quarter to trail 8 to 2.

Bucci's cagers reversed their form of the first period and sniped 15 points in the second quarter with "Wally" Skora setting the pace. The Aggies led by Don Fossedal maintained a 20 to 17 halftime advantage by tallying 12 markers.

Wilnot kept up the scoring pace in the third quarter, registering 15 tallies while limiting the invaders to eight for 32 to 28 margin at the last canto opened.

The winners tightened their defense in the last period, limiting Rochester to only two points while they countered with 10 to sew up the game. Rochester lost their rangy pivot star Fossedal, on personals and his departure after scoring 18 points hurt the Aggies' hopes. Skora's 19-point harvest topped the in with nine tallies besides playing a good floor game at guard.

Wilnot is idle now till after the first of the year when they resume their bid for the conference title against Mukwonago on Jan. 6.

Screw Worms in Hogs

Screw worms can be controlled, but it is absolutely necessary that hog raisers check their hogs every day for breaks in the skin where the eggs may be laid and the worms developed.

"Lone Wolf"

The tapir is solitary, and only during the brief period of courtship are two found together. Birth is given to one young at a time about every two years.

Hoop Skirts to Steel

A continuous process of hardening and tempering wire for hoop skirts gave birth to this country's cold rolled strip industry about 1859.

Feeding Pullets

As pullets mature they should have enough fat on their bodies to enable them to withstand the strain of high egg production. If pullets mature too rapidly, it may be necessary to increase the amount of grain for them or feed them a fattening mash.

Feroceous Octopus

The octopus is a member of the family cephalopoda, which means "headfooted." With eight writhing feet, or arms, reaching out from a mournful ghostly face, this devilish has a reputation for ferocity that is by no means undeserved.

Earth Worms

Addition of live earth worms to the soil in tests has resulted in an increase in crop yields of 83 per cent, according to a Cornell soil conservationist. A winter cover crop or manure on the surface will help protect the worms during the winter.

SHORT STORY

The Price

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

THERE was a strangeness about Pancho Ortega that was hard to describe. There was mystery in his eyes, a wildness, a curiously detached look. Yet he had the high forehead of intelligence, the cheekbones and nose of breeding, the erect carriage of pride. He was the type of man that you looked at twice.

I first saw him two summers ago in Cano. It was swelteringly hot outside, but within the dark interior of Cabello's saloon you could forget the heat. Ortega was sitting alone at a table, an untouched drink at his elbow, an open book in his lap. No one bothered him; the dancing girls veered away; there was respect in the attitude of the waiter who served him that wasn't evidenced for other customers.

"Who is he?" I asked Juan.

"Pancho Ortega, the head hunter."

"Head hunter?" I stared, drink held suspended. Juan's white teeth flashed against his dark skin.

"It surprises you, yes? That business of head hunting. Come, surely you have heard of the head hunting tribes?"

"Who hasn't?" I assented. "But who ever believed them?"

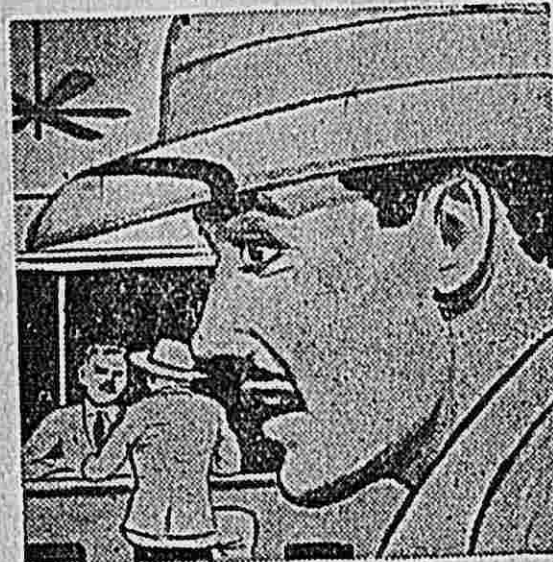

"Come," said Juan. "You Americans must be shown." I followed Juan down Cano's single street, beneath the blazing sun, and into the cool dark interior of what might pass as a gift shop back home. Juan spoke rapidly in his native tongue to the swarthy gentleman behind the counter. The swarthy gentleman looked at me, shrugged, and disappeared into a back room. In a moment he reappeared carrying in his hand an object that caused my flesh to crawl.

The object was a human head, shrunk symmetrically to about the size of an orange.

The swarthy gentleman offered me the head for $25. When I refused it, he shrugged indifferently and disappeared behind the curtains.

"THE Ecuadorian government will fine you $400 for possessing one of these heads," Juan explained as we left the store. "No one has yet been able to discover how the average tribes remove the bones before the shrinking is done, and little else about the actual shrinking process."

"Pancho Ortega is a scientist. He came down here two years ago, determined to solve the mystery. Naturally he ran into difficulties because of the government rules against head hunting. But this only made him more determined. He visited tribe after tribe. Those who were friendly played innocent, flatly refusing to admit any knowledge about the business. From the other tribes, the hostiles, Pancho barely escaped with his life.

"Pancho Ortega!" I exclaimed suddenly.

I glanced at Juan quickly. "Do you mean . . . ?"

Again Juan shrugged. "Who knows. One cannot experiment without the proper ingredients. Certain natives have mysteriously disappeared during the past six months."

Unconsciously I quickened my step, but when we arrived at Cabello's, Pancho Ortega was gone.

I did not see him again for two years. The second meeting left an even more vivid impression than the first. Juan and I were renewing our acquaintance and discussing old times over a bottle of Cabello's fine liquor. Across the room an old man was reading a book.

"Pancho Ortega!" I exclaimed suddenly.

Juan shook his head. "No, that is no one more important than Cabello's old father, who comes here daily to get out of the heat." His face became grave. "You are curious about Pancho Ortega, eh?"

I admitted that I was.

"Come," said Juan. And once more I followed him down the blazing street and into the gloomy interior of the shop we had visited before. The object that the shop owner carried when he reappeared sent a cold wave through my body. There was no mistaking it. It was the shrunken head of Pancho Ortega.

Columbus' Weakness

Although Christopher Columbus was one of the greatest navigators and seamen of all times, he had one very human weakness that caused him to be unpopular with his contemporaries. The man who discovered America, liked to say "I told you so" to those who had formerly belittled him.

O Little Town of Bethlehem

Silent Night

FOR ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-ONE YEARS THE WORLD'S CHRISTIAN VOICES HAVE BEEN SINGING THIS MOST BELOVED OF ALL CHRISTMAS CAROLS, WHICH STRIKES AS CLOSE TO THE SOURCE OF DIVINE INSPIRATION IN MANKIND AS ANY MUSIC CAN.

LIKE MUCH THAT IS GREAT, IT HAD AN HUMBLE, ALMOST IGNOMINIOUS, BEGINNING. IT WAS CREATED, IN A FINAL, DESPERATE EFFORT TO MEET A LOCAL CEREMONIAL EMERGENCY, BY THE COMBINED EFFORTS OF FRANZ GRUBER, SCHOOLMASTER, AND FATHER JOSEF MOHR, ASSISTANT PRIEST OF THE BAVARIAN VILLAGE OF OBERNDORF.

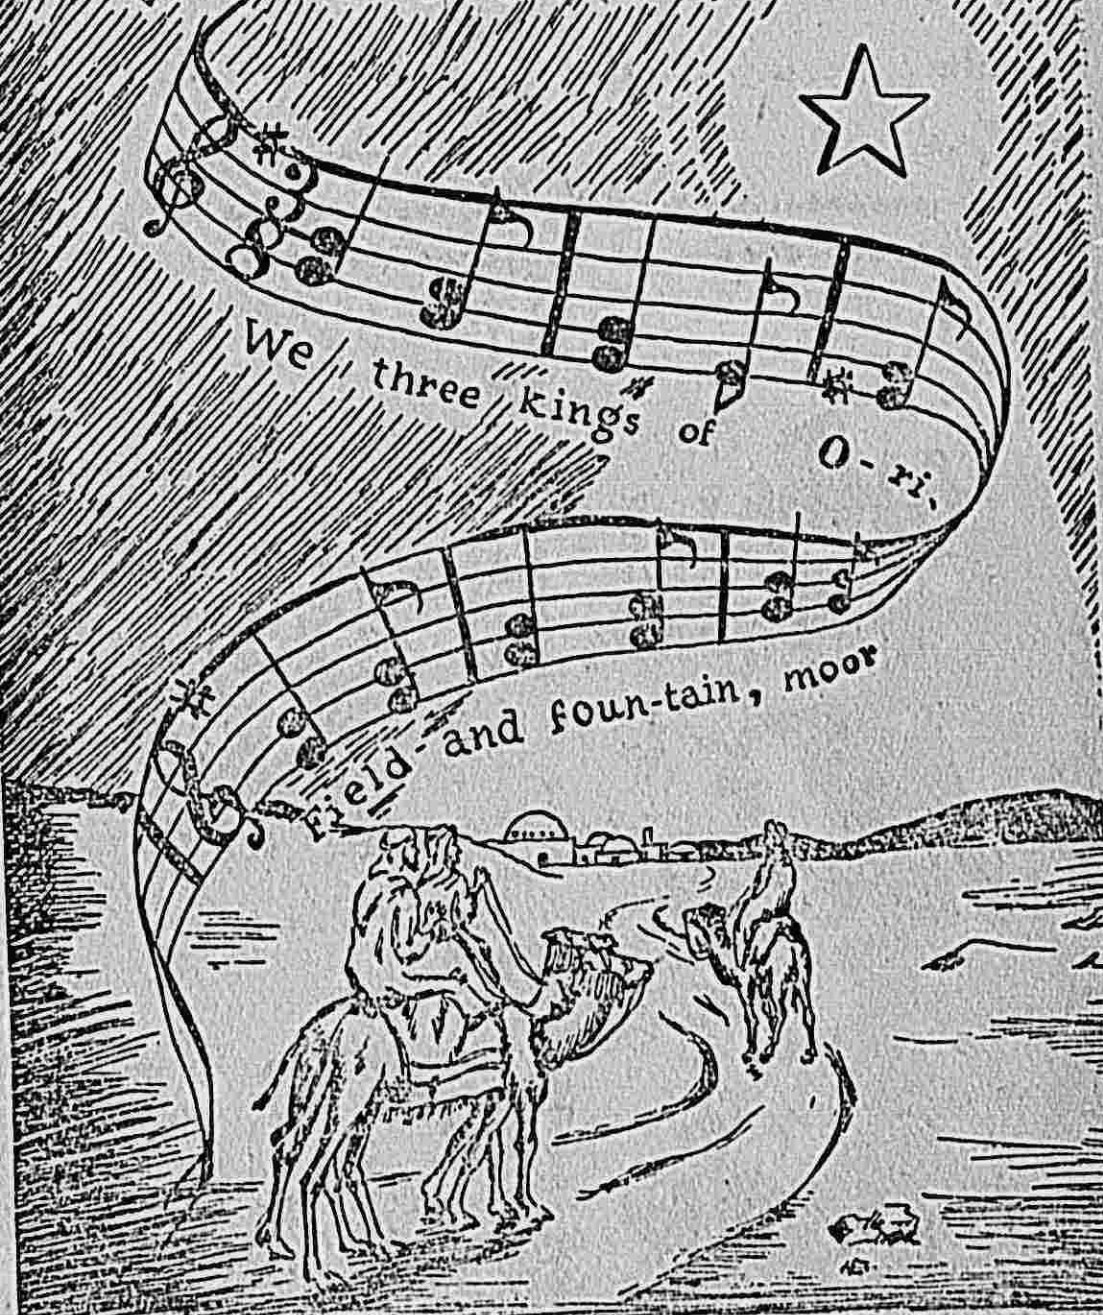

FIRST SUNG ON CHRISTMAS MORNING OF THE YEAR 1818, THE WONDROUS WORDS AND MUSIC OF "STILLE NACHT" ARE REVERED TODAY BY THE WHOLE CIVILIZED WORLD.
